

muehlhausmoers corporate communications is one of Germany's established owner-operated communications agencies. As a full-service agency, muehlhausmoers offers strategic consulting, content marketing and corporate communication.

For our Berlin office, we are looking for a Native English-speaking Trainee (Volontär) for corporate communication to join us at the earliest opportunity.

- You are skilled, enjoy interacting with others and creative when it comes to content marketing, social media and editorial projects.
- You possess journalistic skills as well as initial experience (internships) in the agency/publishing field.
- You have a natural aptitude for service.
- You don't think in terms of online or offline but focus on content.
- You work independently and efficiently, with a structured approach and reliably.
- You are keen to learn.
- English is your native language.
- You have a solid command of the German language.
- You have a good all-round education.
- You are interested in creative communication.

What we offer:

- Exciting projects and pleasant customers
- An environment of pleasant and young colleagues with flat hierarchies
- Independent, flexible work
- A friendly working atmosphere in the heart of Berlin

Interested? Then apply here – including samples of your work – no later than 20th January 2016. Send your application (max. 3 MB) to s.moers@muehlhausmoers.com and reference "CP Trainee". Please also let us know when your earliest starting date would be.
