

We have learned nothing –

Lessons from the 2020 US Presidential Election

A critical revision by Arun Chaudhary

Arun Chaudhary is an American political filmmaker who served as media advisor to Barack Obama and creative director to Bernie Sanders.

Join us in gleaning lessons in the aftermath of the US Presidential election. A contentious election fought in the midst of a pandemic has tested many of our beliefs about the effectiveness of campaigning, both digitally and in the field. What does it bode for the future of electoral politics?

Thursday, 19. November 2020
15:00 – 16:30 Uhr

Registration: To receive a WebEx link to the event, please e-mail Ms. Saskia Fischer: sociology@polsoz.fu-berlin.de